To Whom It May Concern:

Dear Sir/Madam:

It is my pleasure to write a letter of recommendation for Mr. Patrick Simanjuntak. He taught courses in Finance in the Department of Banking, Finance, and Accounting in the School of Business at Hampton University in Hampton, Virginia. He was with us for a period of five (5) years and provided instruction to undergraduate students. I served as Chairman of the Department of Banking, Finance, and Accounting during the time he was with us and was his immediate supervisor.

Mr. Simanjuntak was an able and dedicated employee during the time he was with us. He has superior quantitative skills. He often provided extracurricular quantitative instruction to his students in order to boost their analytical skills. Patrick is also very capable with technology based instruction and was able to assist our student with developing their technical skills as well.

Patrick has excellent organization skills. He is very good at setting and achieving goals. He has good communication skills, both written and oral. He is also a very cordial person. His colleagues found him to be likeable and easy to get along with. He works well in groups and is a team player. Patrick is a competent professional and would be an excellent addition to any organization. I am pleased to recommend him. Please feel free to contact me should you desire further information.

Sincerely,

Edward J Pyatt, Ph.D.
Professor of Finance and Chairman
Department of Banking, Finance, & Accounting
